

About O1 Communications

About O1 Communications

O1 Communications is a California based CLEC founded in 1998 to provide next generation data telecommunications services to Internet Service Providers (ISPs). O1 quickly became one of the largest dial access providers in California to ISPs. In 2004, having achieved a robust network capable of meeting ISP requirements, O1 decided to expand its offerings to voice and data services for small and medium-sized businesses.

O1's voice and data offerings include Private Network MPLS, Direct Internet Access, VoiceStream, VoicePoint, Dedicated PRI, Super Trunk, SIP Trunk, Colocation, Hosting, Managed Security and Backup/Recovery solutions.

Corporate Overview

O1 is a privately held corporation that has funded its own growth through positive cash flow and limited financing. The company has been consecutively profitable since 2000. O1's streamlined business model allows the company to respond proactively to market and customer demands. In 2002, O1 Communications was named the fastest growing company in Sacramento by the Sacramento Business Journal. In 2004, INC Magazine named O1 one of the 500 fastest growing companies in the US.

Network Environment

O1 uses best-of-breed Lucent and Cisco technologies throughout its carrier-class pure IP network to deliver exceptional uptime for all voice and data services. The network's redundancy extends to every part of the system including inputs and outputs, switching fabric, and system processing. The switching technology in use ensures a low latency environment with 99.999% availability. This technology delivers 1.28 Terabits per second switching capacity with high performance and scalability. O1 operates a SAS 70 certified Class A data center providing colocation and hosting services to ISPs, enhanced service providers and business customers. Network operations and customer support staff are available 24x7x365 to maintain physical security, perform network monitoring, and resolve technical issues.
